USDA Offers Low-Interest Loans for Agricultural Producers in Colorado Impacted by Natural Disasters

Emergency Support to Producers in Surrounding Counties/Border States Also Available

Denver, Colorado, April 23, 2019 — Colorado agricultural producers who lost property due to recent natural disasters may be eligible for U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) physical loss loans. The Farm Service Agency (FSA) offers these low-interest loans to agricultural producers in Arapahoe, Kiowa, Kit Carson, Larimer, Otero and Weld counties, the primary damaged area, who incurred losses caused by high winds and a blizzard that occurred between March 13, 2019, and March 14, 2019. Approval is limited to applicants who suffered severe physical losses only, including the loss of buildings and livestock. Applications are due Dec. 9, 2019.

“Colorado’s hardworking ag producers feed our neighbors, the nation and the world,” said State Executive Director Clarice Navarro. “When they suffer losses because of extreme weather, helping them get back on their feet is important. We encourage those affected to reach out to their local USDA Service Center to apply for these emergency loans.”

Producers in the contiguous Colorado counties of Adams, Bent, Boulder, Broomfield, Cheyenne, Crowley, Denver, Douglas, Elbert, Grand, Jackson, Jefferson, Las Animas, Lincoln, Logan, Morgan, Prowers, Pueblo, Washington and Yuma, along with Cheyenne, Greeley, Sherman and Wallace counties in Kansas, Kimball County in Nebraska, and Albany and Laramie counties in Wyoming, are also eligible to apply for emergency loans.

Physical loss loans can help producers repair or replace damaged or destroyed physical property essential to the success of the agricultural operation, including livestock losses. Examples of property commonly affected include essential farm buildings, fixtures to real estate, equipment, livestock, perennial crops, fruit and nut bearing trees, and harvested or stored crops and hay.
